Word Quest 6

List 11 · Talking and language

Vocabulary and example	Write it advocate v./n. /'ædvəkeɪt/ to publicly support an idea; or a person who does this Family: advocates · advocated Tip: The verb ends like "late"; the noun ends like "it". She advocates for animal rights.
articulate adj./v. /ɑː'tɪkjʊleɪt/ able to express ideas clearly; or to express clearly Family: articulates · articulated She's an articulate speaker.
concede v. /kən'siːd/ to admit that something is true, often unwillingly Family: concedes · conceded · concession (n.) Use it with: concede defeat He conceded that he had made a mistake.
consensus n. /kən'sensəs/ general agreement Use it with: reach a consensus The class reached a consensus: a trip to the zoo.
critique n./v. /krɪ'tiːk/ a careful written judgement of something Family: critiques · critiqued Tip: Pronounced kri-TEEK. Our teacher wrote a detailed critique of my essay.
designate v. /'dezɪgneɪt/ to officially choose someone or something for a purpose Family: designates · designated This area is designated for parking.

exercises.lol exercises.com.cn

Vocabulary and example	Write it disclose v. /dɪs'kləʊz/ to make information known Family: discloses · disclosed · disclosure (n.) The company didn't disclose its profits.
disseminate v. /dɪ'semɪneɪt/ to spread information widely Family: disseminates · disseminated The internet disseminates news very fast.
endorse v. /en'dɔːs/ to publicly support someone or something Family: endorses · endorsed · endorsement (n.) The famous athlete endorsed the new shoes.
exclaim v. /eks'kleɪm/ to say something suddenly and loudly Family: exclaims · exclaimed · exclamation (n.) "Look!" she exclaimed. " " flatter v. /'flætə/ to praise someone too much, often to get something Family: flatters · flattered · flattery (n.) Use it with: be flattered He flattered the teacher to get a better grade. grumble v. /'grʌmbl/ to complain quietly in an unhappy way Family: grumbles · grumbled He's always grumbling about the food.

Vocabulary and example	Write it

heed v./n. /hiːd/

to pay attention to advice

Family: heeds · heeded Use it with: take heed

Heed the warning signs.

interchange n./v. /ˌɪntəˈtʃeɪndʒ/

an exchange of ideas; also, a junction of roads

Family: interchanges · interchanged

There was a lively interchange of ideas.

monolingual adj. /ˈmɒnəʊlɪŋgwl/

speaking only one language

A monolingual dictionary explains words in the same language.

paraphrase v./n. /ˈpærəfreɪz/

to say something again in different words

Family: paraphrases · paraphrased

Can you paraphrase this sentence?

platform n. /ˈplætfɔːm/

a raised stage; also, a website or app where people share things

Family: platforms Use it with: a social media platform

The singer stood on the platform.

proclaim v. /prəˈkleɪm/

to announce publicly and officially

Family: proclaims · proclaimed · proclamation (n.)

The king proclaimed a holiday.

proponent n. /prəˈpəʊnənt/

a person who supports an idea

Family: proponents

He's a proponent of online learning.

exercises.lol exercises.com.cn

Vocabulary and example	Write it

publicize v. /ˈpʌblɪsaɪz/

to make something widely known, e.g. through adverts or news

Family: publicizes · publicized · publicity (n.) Tip: British English also writes "publicise".

They publicized the concert on social media.

signify v. /ˈsɪgnɪfaɪ/

to be a sign of; to mean

Family: signifies · signified · significance (n.)

A red light signifies danger.

summon v. /ˈsʌmən/

to officially order someone to come

Family: summons · summoned

The principal summoned me to her office.