

-
1. Describe one piece of documentation that would be appropriate to include with or in your program. Explain how this documentation can be used by another programmer to better understand a particular code segment in your program.