

Exercise walk-through

Contextualizing 20th-Century Global Conflicts ■ 8.1

eXercise

You must be able to

- name the four threads the unit opens
- explain what 'total war' means as a technical term
- state why the ideological battle is three-sided
- name the conditions in place before 1914

Method — The four threads

Total war and political instability gave way to a polarised state order and then to efforts at transnational union; economic collapse and total war created conflicting conceptions of the individual and the state; movements questioned objective knowledge, reason and religion's moral role; and five named forces altered everyday life.

Method — Total war

A war in which the state mobilises the whole society — labour, industry, food, opinion — not only an army. That is why it appears in a sentence about the individual and the state.

Method — Three, not two

The battle is between and among democracy, communism and fascism. “Among” also allows conflict inside each camp, so a two-sided account loses a dimension.

Method — Conditions before 1914

Unit 7's alliance system and Balkan crises, industrial capacity able to sustain total war, and no shared standard for settling disputes. All were in place beforehand, which is what makes them context.

Practice 2.1 ■ 2 marks

Define total war.

Solution 2.1

Worked steps

a war in which the state mobilises the whole society B1 — labour, industry, food and opinion, not only an army B1.

Practice 2.2 ■ 2 marks

State the three ideologies in the CED's battle and what “among” adds.

Solution 2.2

Method: Three, not two

Worked steps

democracy, communism and fascism B1; “among” allows conflict inside each camp as well as between them B1.

Practice 2.3 ■ 3 marks

Name three conditions in place before 1914.

Solution 2.3

Method: Conditions before 1914

Worked steps

any three of: the alliance system; Balkan crises; industrial capacity able to sustain total war; the absence of a shared standard for settling disputes B3.

Exam-style 3.1 ■ 1 mark

Total war appears in a sentence about the individual and the state because it

- A involves only armies
- B mobilises the whole society
- C is short
- D ends quickly

Solution 3.1

Method: Total war

- A involves only armies
- B mobilises the whole society
- C is short
- D ends quickly

Worked steps

B. mobilising a society enlarges what the state does to individuals.

Exam-style 3.2 ■ 1 mark

A two-sided account of the century's ideological conflict

- A matches the CED
- B loses a dimension the CED preserved
- C is required
- D covers all three camps

Solution 3.2

Method: Three, not two

- A matches the CED
- B loses a dimension the CED preserved
- C is required
- D covers all three camps

Worked steps

- B. the CED names three.

Exam-style 3.3 ■ 1 mark

A ministry created to run a war economy is still operating in 1925.

- (a) State what this illustrates.
- (b) Explain the link to the individual-and-state thread.

Solution 3.3

Method: The four threads

Worked steps

(a) that wartime state expansion outlived the war B1. (b) powers taken for an emergency became permanent B1, which changed the relationship between the individual and the state B1.
