

3.7 Diffusion of Religion and Language

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

Total: 10 marks

KEY WORDS pidgin 皮钦语 • lingua franca 通用语 • creole 克里奥尔语 • dialect 方言
• language family 语系

Objective

Build the skills to answer exam questions on the diffusion of religion and language 宗教与语言的传播.

You must be able to:

- explain how universalizing religions diffuse
- define a language family 语系 and lingua franca 通用语
- distinguish a pidgin 皮钦语 from a creole 克里奥尔语
- explain how a dialect 方言 forms

1 Worked examples

Study these first. Each one shows the method for a task used later.

■ Religion's diffusion

Universalizing religions spread by relocation (migration) and expansion (missionaries, conversion), producing large, scattered communities of believers.

■ Language families and lingua franca

A language family groups languages from a common ancestor (e.g. Indo-European).
A lingua franca is a common language people adopt to communicate across groups (e.g. English in business).

■ Pidgin, creole, dialect

A pidgin is a simplified mix used for trade; when children grow up speaking it as a first language it becomes a creole. A dialect is a regional variety of one language.

2 Practice

2.1 Define a lingua franca and give one example. [2]

2.2 State the difference between a pidgin and a creole. [2]

2.3 English, German, and Hindi share an ancient common ancestor.

(a) What are such related languages called together? [1]

(b) Name one way English diffused to become a global lingua franca. [1]

3 Exam-style questions

3.1 A regional variety of a language with its own accent and words is a [1]

A	B
C	D

A lingua franca

B dialect

C pidgin

D language family

3.2 Missionaries converting people in distant lands spread religion mainly by [1]

A	B
C	D

A relict boundaries

B expansion diffusion

C distance decay

D carrying capacity

3.3 Traders from different language groups develop a simple shared speech.

(a) Name this simplified language. [1]

(b) Explain what it becomes if the next generation speaks it as a mother tongue. [1]
