Solutions

Each answer shows the steps, then the result.

2.1

- they exchange capital, information, and people in a global network, often tied to each other more than to their region

2.2

- any two of: corporate headquarters, finance/banking, stock exchange, specialised business services

2.3

(a)

- wealth, jobs, investment, talent

(b)

- high living costs / inequality / unaffordable housing

3.1 B

- world cities form an interconnected global network

3.2 B

- globalization concentrates high-order services in world cities

3.3

(a)

- it is a highly interconnected network of command centres

(b)

- sharp inequality / high cost of living for low-wage workers