

Exercise walk-through

The Constitutional Convention and Debates over Ratification ■ 3.8

eXercise

You must be able to

- state the three means by which the delegates proposed a constitution
- state what the Convention compromised over
- state the date the CED gives for the international slave trade
- state how the Federalists secured ratification

Method — Three means

Delegates from the states participated in the Constitutional Convention and through negotiation, collaboration, and compromise proposed a constitution.
Three verbs, and the third is the one that carries the cost.

Method — The compromises

The Constitutional Convention compromised over the representation of slave states in Congress and the role of the federal government in regulating both slavery and the slave trade, allowing the prohibition of the international slave trade after 1808.

Method — The date

After 1808. The prohibition was permitted, not enacted, and it was postponed for twenty years — a compromise with a timetable.

Method — Ratification

Anti-Federalists opposing ratification battled with Federalists, whose principles were articulated in the Federalist Papers (primarily written by Alexander Hamilton and James Madison). Federalists ensured ratification by promising the addition of a Bill of Rights that enumerated individual rights and explicitly restricted the powers of the federal government.
