Four Colonizers, Four Strategies

Period 2 runs from 1607 to 1754 – from Jamestown to the eve of the Seven Years' War. Its central question is why European colonies turned out so differently from one another.

- Spain extracted wealth from the land, developing institutions built on subjugating 征服 native populations – the encomienda system carried over from Period 1.
- France and the Netherlands sent relatively few Europeans and relied on trade alliances 贸易同盟 with American Indians, especially in fur 毛皮.
- Britain attracted a comparatively large number of male and female migrants 男女移民, who came to settle and farm rather than only to extract.

That last difference matters most.

Because British colonists arrived as families and wanted land, they displaced native peoples rather than trading with them – which made British-Indian relations more violent than French ones.

The Regions of British Colonies

	New England	Middle colonies	Chesapeake	Southern coast and West Indies
Geography	cold, thin soil, short growing season	fertile, temperate	warm, long season, navigable rivers	long growing season, subtropical
Main export	mixed farming, fishing, shipping	cereal crops (the 'bread colonies')	tobacco	rice and sugar
Labour system	family labour	family labour and indentured servants	indentured servants, then enslaved Africans	enslaved Africans, a majority in places
Society	Puritan towns, high life expectancy	most ethnically and religiously diverse	scattered plantations, high mortality	rigid racial hierarchy geography → the crop → the labour system → the society

the distinction this unit turns on

The Regions of British Colonies

British North America was not one place. Four regions developed distinct societies.

- The Chesapeake 切萨皮克 and North Carolina grew prosperous exporting tobacco 烟草, a labour-intensive crop. Labour came first from indentured servants 契约仆役 and increasingly from enslaved Africans.
- The New England colonies, initially settled by Puritans 清教徒, developed around small towns with family farms 家庭农场, a mixed economy, and unusually high life expectancy.
- The middle colonies supported a flourishing export economy based on cereal crops 谷物, and attracted the broadest range of European migrants, producing the most ethnically and religiously diverse 族群与宗教多元 region.
- The colonies of the southern Atlantic coast and the British West Indies used long growing seasons for rice 稻米 and sugar 蔗糖, cash crops so labour-hungry that enslaved Africans became a majority of the population in places.

One political feature was shared.

Distance from London, and Britain's initially lax attention 松散管理, let the colonies create self-governing institutions 自治机构 – colonial assemblies that later shaped resistance to imperial control.

Transatlantic Trade

An Atlantic economy 大西洋经济 developed in which goods – and enslaved Africans and American Indians – were exchanged around the ocean rim. Continuing trade increased the flow of goods in and out of American Indian communities, changing them too.

The Navigation Acts 航海条例 required colonial trade to move in British ships through British ports.

Interactions with American Indians

Contact produced both accommodation 调适 and conflict 冲突, and the balance differed by empire and region.

British expansion led to sustained military conflict 军事冲突 with American Indians over land, resources, and boundaries.

Slavery in the British Colonies

All the British colonies participated in the Atlantic slave trade to varying degrees, because land was abundant and labour scarce.

Slavery became hereditary, life-long, and defined by race – a legal structure, not merely a practice.

Colonial Society and Culture

Two opposite processes ran at once.

Toward diversity: the presence of different European religious and ethnic groups produced a significant degree of pluralism 多元并存, most visibly in the middle colonies.

Comparison in Period 2

The unit ends with comparison 比较, the reasoning skill this period is built to teach: the regions differ enough that almost any claim about "the colonies" needs qualifying.

Exam tips

- Answer the why behind regional difference: geography set the crop, the crop set the labour system, and the labour system set the society.
- Never treat "the colonies" as one place. A comparison question wants New England against the Chesapeake, with evidence from each.
- Mercantilism is the theory, the Navigation Acts are the policy, and salutary neglect is the lax enforcement that made later enforcement feel like tyranny.
- For slavery, give both overt and covert resistance; and note that slave codes made slavery racial and hereditary, which is the change being tested.
- The Pueblo Revolt is the go-to example of successful native resistance; British-Indian conflict is the go-to contrast with French trade alliances.
- Match your answer to the task verb. Briefly describe takes one or two accurate sentences, while Evaluate the extent needs a thesis that takes a position.
