

5. GAC014 Academic English III: Listening & Speaking Skills

Starter Quiz · 课前小测

GAC Academic English

Name: _____ Score: _____

1. What is the seminar's question?
 - ☐ Whether peer comments help revision
 - ☐ Whether every paragraph has sixteen words
 - ☐ Whether volunteers need no checklist
2. What outcome is reported?
 - ☐ Treatment recovery
 - ☐ Appointment attendance
 - ☐ A recommended medicine dose
3. What supports A's claim about the locked box?
 - ☐ A friend's reported experience
 - ☐ A complete record of every borrower
 - ☐ A verified national legal rule
4. How many respondents preferred group activities?

5. How many more correct responses were recorded in the second group?

6. How many double bookings appear in the fictional brief?

7. How many volunteers made at least one relevant revision?

8. What is the difference between the attendance counts?

9. The voluntary survey necessarily represents every resident.
 - ☐ True ☐ False
10. Which slide plan best supports the argument?
 - ☐ A full report pasted onto one slide
 - ☐ Question, result table, limitation and next check
 - ☐ An unrelated photograph with no data

5. GAC014 Academic English III: Listening & Speaking Skills

Answers · 答案

GAC Academic English

1. Whether peer comments help revision

The opening explicitly asks about peer comments and revision.

2. Appointment attendance

The script reports whether people attended, not treatment results.

3. A friend's reported experience

A provides one anecdote, not universal or legal evidence.

4. 12

The fictional survey states twelve preferred group activities.

5. 2

$10 - 8 = 2$ people. Both groups contained twelve volunteers.

6. 6

Six double bookings were recorded among forty requests over two weeks.

7. 12

Twelve revised; sixteen is the number of volunteers.

8. 4

$16 - 12 = 4$ people, with twenty in each group.

9. False

Non-respondents may have different needs; the sample is not established as representative.

10. Question, result table, limitation and next check

The sequence links purpose, evidence and its interpretation.