Intention, blocking and audience: transfer review

Intention, blocking and audience: transfer review

Test sightlines, body orientation, focus and movement for both sides while retaining the textual intention. Compare actual views and delivery; a plan suitable for a single front may hide action from the opposite side.

Explain a practical revision and its trade-off.

Devising and contribution: method

Devising and contribution: method

Devising uses shared exploration to select original material. Keep intention, trial, feedback, decision and outcome connected.

A personal evaluation must identify what the learner actually contributed within the ensemble.

Devising and contribution: transfer review

Vary crossing timing, spacing or focus while keeping the central action visible, then compare actual audience visibility and expressive response. Document the individual's contribution and ensemble decision.

The trade-off requires evidence against the shared intention, not automatic preference for clarity alone.

Exercises 2.1·3.1

2.1 For the worked case, identify the evidence and a conclusion it can support. Explain one material limit. [3]

3.1 A scene moves to an audience on two sides. What should the blocking review test? Give a reasoned answer, evidence or method, and a relevant qualification. [3]

Exercises 2.1·3.1

2.1 For the worked case, identify the evidence and a conclusion it can support. Explain one material limit. [3]

2.1 Distance and pause can suggest tension or uncertainty; immediate closeness can suggest relief or confrontation depending on delivery. Refer to the whole scene/play before choosing. Authored points for identifying relevant evidence, explaining a supported inference and a material limit.

3.1 Test sightlines, body orientation, focus and movement for both sides while retaining the textual intention. Compare actual views and delivery; a plan suitable for a single front may hide action from the opposite side. Explain a practical revision and its trade-off. Authored points for a relevant judgement, reason tied to the case and justified qualification or method. Accept a supported alternative.
