常常 vs 经常 (often / regularly)

■ Choose an often-word without inventing a fixed schedule

- A person is frequently late.
- 他常常迟到, 也可以说他经常迟到。 – Both adverbs can describe frequent lateness in this example.

■ Build the form

- The pattern in this lesson is 常常 vs 经常 (often / regularly). Locate it in the original interlinear examples below.
- Keep the words in their demonstrated positions; the pattern must fit the intended situation as well as the sentence form.

tā cháng cháng chí dào

Word guide: 他 – he; 常常 – often; 迟到 – be late.

■ Read examples in context

■ Use the distinction

■ Try it with help closed

A person is frequently late. Close the examples. Say a Mandarin response, then write it in Chinese. Explain briefly in English what the lesson's pattern adds. Compare with the model, then change one detail and try again.

One possible response: 他常常迟到, 也可以说他经常迟到。

- My response conveys a message that fits the opening situation.
- I can explain the meaning of the pattern, rather than only naming it.
- Neither word specifies an exact number of occasions.
- 经常 can also appear in adjectival expressions such as 经常性工作, where 常常 is not interchangeable.
- I tried a second response with a name, time, place, or description changed.

Practise this pattern step by step.
