Word Quest 1

List 30 · Life and people

Vocabulary and example	Write it

borrow v. /ˈbɒrəʊ/

to take something from someone and give it back later

Family: borrows · borrowed Use it with: borrow from · borrow money Tip: You “borrow” from someone; you “lend” to someone.

Can I borrow your pen? I’ll give it back after class.

cancel v. /ˈkænsl/

to say that something planned will not happen

Family: cancels · cancelled · cancellation (n.) Use it with: cancel a meeting · cancel an order Tip: British spelling: cancelled; American: canceled.

They cancelled the football match because of the rain.

chance n. /tʃæns/

a possibility; also, an opportunity

Family: chances Use it with: have a chance · by chance · a second chance Tip: By chance means without planning.

There’s a good chance that it will rain tomorrow.

depend v. /dɪˈpend/

to be decided by something else; also, to need someone

Family: depends · depended · dependent (adj.) Use it with: depend on · it depends Tip: Always “depend on”, never “depend of”.

“Are you coming?” “It depends on the weather.”
“ ”“ ”

event n. /ɪˈvent/

something important that happens

Family: events Use it with: a sports event · a big event

The school concert is the biggest event of the year.

exercises.lol exercises.com.cn

Vocabulary and example	Write it

friend n. /frend/

a person you know well and like

Family: friends · friendly (adj.) · friendship (n.) Use it with: best friend · make friends · an old friend Tip: Make friends with someone means become their friend.

My best friend lives next door.

gift n. /gɪft/

something you give to someone; a present

Family: gifts Use it with: a birthday gift · a gift for

Thank you for the lovely gift!

guest n. /gest/

a person you invite to your home or an event

Family: guests Use it with: a special guest · hotel guests

We have five guests coming for dinner.

help v./n. /help/

to make something easier for someone

Family: helps · helped · helpful (adj.) Use it with: help with · ask for help · help someone do Tip: Help! is what you shout in danger.

Can you help me carry these bags?

holiday n. /ˈhɒlɪdeɪ/

a time when you do not go to school or work

Family: holidays Use it with: on holiday · a public holiday · summer holiday Tip: American English often says “vacation”.

We went to the beach for the summer holiday.

invite v. /ɪnˈvaɪt/

to ask someone to come to an event

Family: invites · invited · invitation (n.) Use it with: invite someone to · invite someone for dinner

I invited my whole class to my party.

exercises.lol exercises.com.cn

Vocabulary and example	Write it

lend v. /lend/

to give something to someone for a short time

Family: lends · lent Use it with: lend something to someone Tip: Past form: lent. Opposite of "borrow".

Can you lend me ten yuan? I'll pay you back tomorrow.

meet v. /miːt/

to come together with someone

Family: meets · met · meeting (n.) Use it with: meet someone · nice to meet you Tip: Past form: met.

Let's meet at the school gate at five.

share v. /ʃeə/

to have or use something with other people

Family: shares · shared Use it with: share with · share an idea

My brother and I share a bedroom.

together adv. /təˈgeðə/

with each other

Use it with: work together · get together · all together

Let's do our homework together.

exercises.lol exercises.com.cn